

Case Study on Regression

The given dataset contains price of second-hand Hyundai grand i10 car with respect to year of making. Find the best linear relationship between year and price. Can you predict the possible price of a 2022 model second-hand grand i10? Please learn about lasso regression and create a model along with linear regression. Find out which one is performing better.

Please note the following:

Give heading to each step you are doing

Keep your name as the file name

